Dear Mom & Dad
I take leap, with my tiny feet !
Each milestone I conquer,
Big dreams dwell in my little eyes
What I may become is a big surprise !

Yes, I have done it !
Hurry ! have been Promoted to .....
My next quest begins on .....

CONTINUOUS COMPREHENSIVE EVALUATION

1. The continuous and comprehensive evaluation is spread over the year and three assessments are made during the academic year.
2. The focus is on identifying the talents of the learner and to empower him / her with positive input.
3. Attempts are made to assess the aptitude and attitude of the learners to facilitate nurturing innate talents.

A WORD TO THE PARENT

Assessment is the gathering of information through observable evidence of what a child can do, say and apply. Evaluation involves the judging and interpreting of the assessment data to determine the child's progress in achieving the learning expectations.

Kindergarten teachers assess the child's learning on an ongoing basis in the context of every day classroom experiences, using a variety of strategies and tools. The tiny tots show their understanding by doing, showing and telling. Teachers need to use assessment strategies of observing, listening and probing questions in order to assess and evaluate children's achievement.

Observation is the most important aspect of assessment in the kindergarten classroom and should be an integral part of all other assessment strategies. It is the key to effective teaching and is the starting point for instruction in the kindergarten programme. The assessment of the child's achievement is intended to improve the child's learning. Teachers continuously observe monitor, document and assess children's learning, on day to day basis.

The young learners demonstrate their learning in many different ways. Their success in demonstrating what they know or are able to do varies depending on factors such as the time of the day, the situation, the type of questions asked and familiarity with the content.
